

Sunday Classical Music Series

Presented by the Babylon Village Arts Council in partnership with the Friends of the Babylon Public Library

MAXIM ANIKUSHIN

Sunday, November 18, 2:00 pm

Russian born, Maxim Anikushin is a world renowned pianist and veteran of many concerto performances. In addition he is the recipient of numerous prestigious prizes and awards which include Third Prize at both the International Senigallia Piano Competition in Italy and the International Prokofiev Competition in St. Petersburg, Russia, Second Prize in the International Vincenzo Bellini Competition in Caltanissetta, Italy, First Prize in Long Island's Five Towns Competition, and a Diploma at the Grieg Competition in Oslo, Norway. In February 2006, he won the aforementioned Barber Concerto Competition at the Manhattan School of Music and in May, 2006, he garnered First Place at the International Piano Competition in Carlet, Spain.

Mr. Anikushin will perform works by Chopin, Beethoven and Scarlatti, among others.

Babylon Public Library, 24 So. Carll Avenue, Babylon Village
Information 631-669-1810

FREE ADMISSION

This program is partially funded by the Suffolk County Executive's Office, member and other community support.

